

Cham15: The Real Surreal

Alex W. Milne

Cham15: The Real Surreal

Alex W Milne

©2015

Cham15: The Real Surreal

Everywhere you go in the Chamonix valley your eyes are assaulted by an ever changing beauty. Light moves and flexes in a way that is always beautiful and extraordinary. Aiguilles come and go in dramatic mists. Snow floats down in the oppressively cold air. Wind blows and visibility swirls in a surreal, often disturbing way. Skiers from around the globe flock to this the original mecca of skiing.

The Real Surreal attempts to capture this shifting mood in the mountain landscape. In monochrome. It investigates the relationship of changing light in the mountains and the uniqueness of Chamonix with its unparalleled access into the high mountains.

Enjoy.

Alex W Milne
April 2015

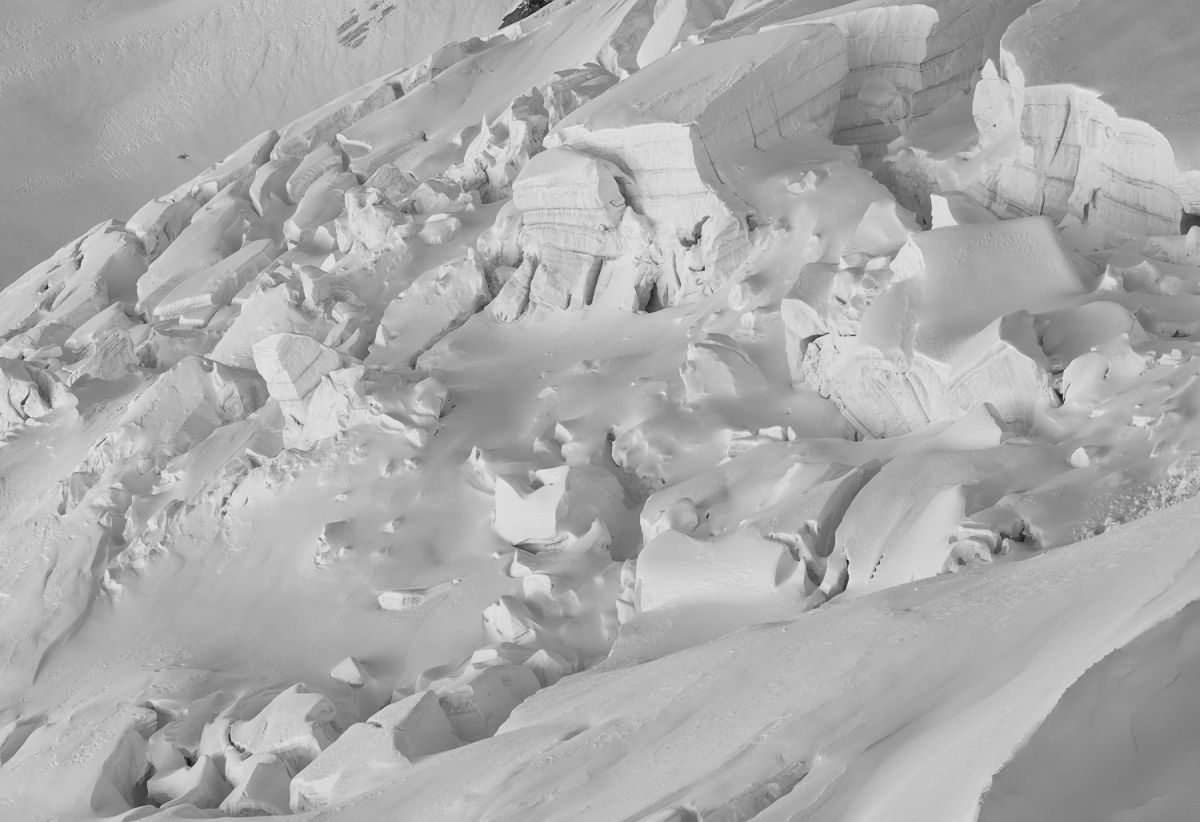

CAFE LA TERRASSE

BAR

LA TERRASSE

BAR

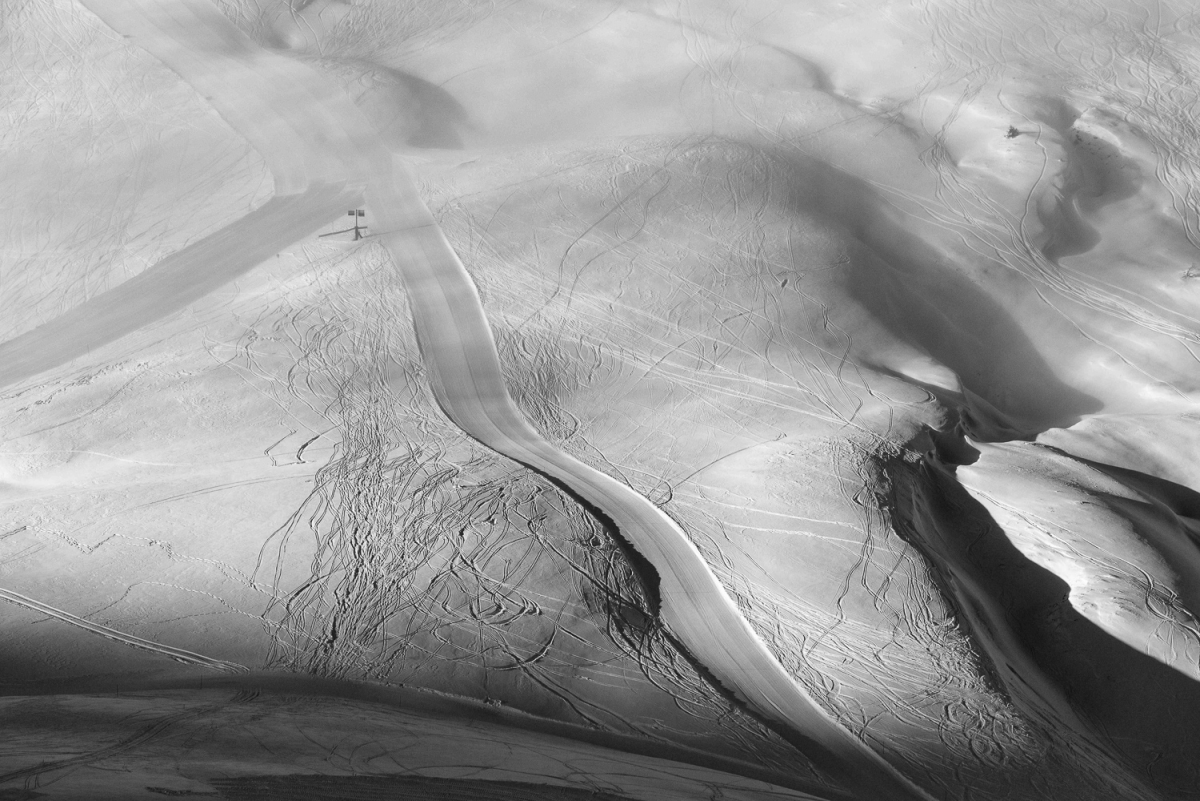

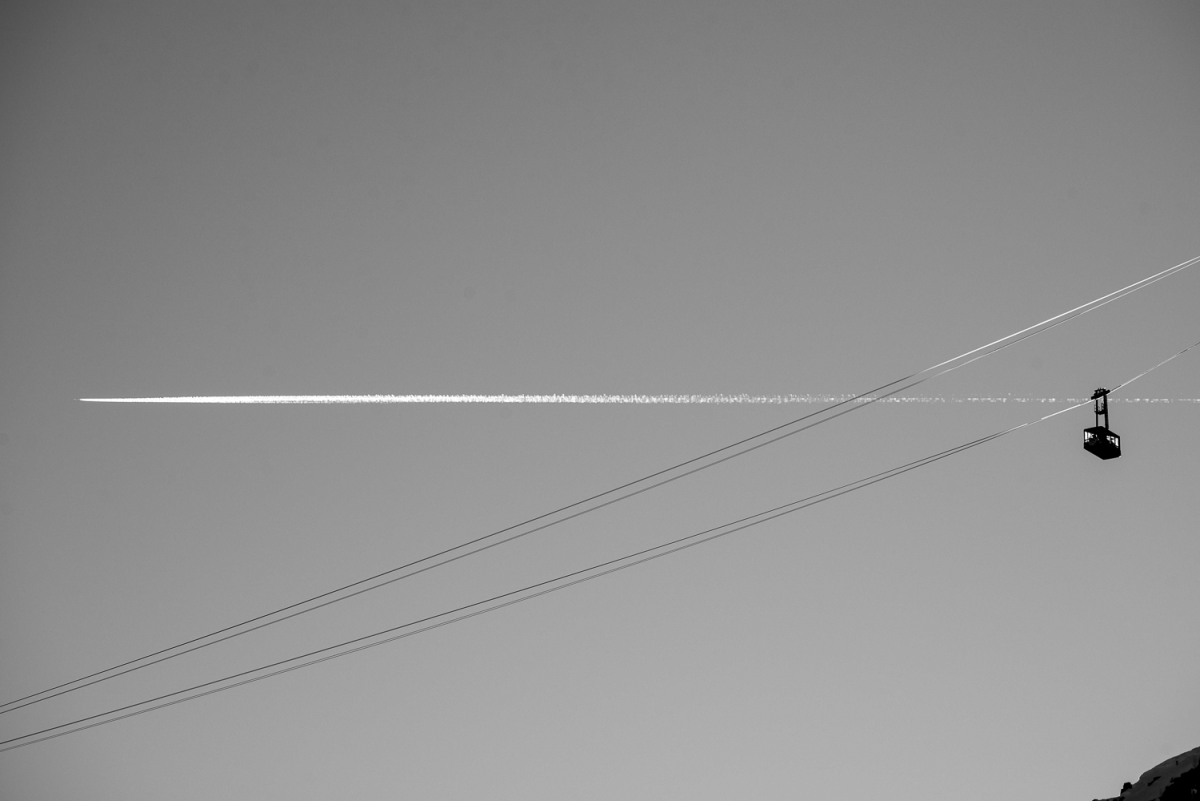

MONTROC LE PLANET

A large rectangular notice board with multiple sections of text and diagrams, partially covered in snow.

P-1

Attention!
Ne pas entrer dans la zone interdite. Toute violation sera punie par la loi.

A smaller rectangular notice board with text, partially covered in snow.

